Echoes of Young Talent

Rajagiri Public school

The students mentioned that due to exams, they had very little time for practice, but despite this challenge they were able to participate in the competition with courage and determination.

DPS Monarch International School.

The juniors of the school expressed that they thoroughly enjoyed the experience of the competition and found it to be a delightful and enjoyable event.

Aakriti and Niharika – Al Khor International School

All the songs were very nice, and everyone sang beautifully. We enjoyed being here and meeting new friends from other schools. We really liked taking part and answering the questions.”

Isabelle and Yaashi- Scholars International School

“It was very fun! The songs were really nice, and we’re so excited to perform. Our favorite part was the group singing —everyone sang together with lots of energy! We loved watching the other performances too, and it was such a happy and enjoyable experience for us.”

From the Heart of the Host School: A Symphony of Youth

The DPS-MIS students shared that, at the end of the day, it is a competition and there will always be someone who wins and someone who loses. They emphasized that no matter the outcome, it is important to be proud of yourself and your efforts. They also advised appreciating others around you and recognizing how well everyone has performed, as every participant puts in hard work and deserves encouragement.

“Being part of the Student Press Team for the interschool music competition was a wonderful experience. Interacting with the performers and guests gave me a deeper appreciation for music and the passion behind each performance. I’m truly grateful to our teacher for guiding and supporting us throughout—it was both inspiring and a fun way to grow my communication skills.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK- Ms. Darsana Sonish

It was an honor to compile this special edition of the newsletter for the Inter-School Music Competition organized by DPS Modern Indian School as part of our Silver Jubilee festivities. With enthusiastic participation from numerous schools, the event came alive with mesmerizing tunes, soulful rhythms, and infectious enthusiasm. As the editor and guide to the Student Press Team, I cherished the opportunity to capture moments that reflected the fusion of creativity, artistry, and youthful exuberance.
